

Dreaming of a post-covid vacation? Travelling with Hearing Loss

Everyone is waiting to travel again as the possibility is looking brighter. A post-COVID vacation could come with stress for someone who is deaf or hard of hearing.

People dealing with hearing loss have different travel experiences whether its pre or post-COVID. It can be stressful and difficult, but it doesn't have to be. Many destinations are becoming more inclusive to provide better accommodations for people with hearing loss.

Australia provides an "Experience Australia in 8D Audio" video series giving listeners the illusion of sound. It provides people with hearing loss an immersive listening experience normally uncommon for this community.

Other destinations with excellent opportunities are New York City, Disney World, cruises, Cairns and France. They provide specialized tours, accommodations and services for the deaf and hard of hearing.

Tips in preparation for your trip:

Plan in advance

Set up accommodations, reservations, tours etc. to best suit your hearing loss, to avoid dealing with communication issues during your trip.

Make the most of technology

Download relevant apps such as Maps, translation, transit and more. Apps can be extremely helpful.

Advocate for yourself

Don't be afraid to tell people you have a hearing loss. Once aware, they can take steps to communicate with you effectively.

Pack extra supplies

Bring extra supplies to ensure you can manage on the go.

Before leaving contact your local NexGen Hearing clinic to order extra supplies.

www.nexgenhearing.com.

This year

Why not invest in your quality of life?

Make your next destination Better Hearing.

ARMSTRONG 778.442.2000

7-3495 Pleasant Valley Road

VERNON 778.475.4007

201-5100 Anderson Way

NEXGEN HEARING

nexgenhearing.com

WorkSafeBC and other Provincial WCB Networks, VAC, BCEA and NIHB accepted
Registered under the College of Speech and Hearing Health Professionals of BC